Electricity on the Farm.

With all that has been accomplished within the past few years and is constantly being accomplished in the way of applying electricity to the facilitating of human labor in its multifarious directions, it is hardly probable that the farmer has realized that this agency was destined in the near future to become a valuable aid in the performance of farm labor, and that its use will undoubtedly be thoroughly practicable, yet such an idea is promulgated by the Electrician which says: "Electricity will no doubt be largely used within the near future on the large farms and colonies of our country. It will do service both as a motive power and an illuminator—actually making night day, and thus enabling the farmer to harvest in half the usual time. Steam engines have been largely used of late years in the various processes of agriculture. Without them, in fact, the cultivation of the large farms would not be possible. But while the applications of the electric motor to farm work will be most varied, it is as an illuminating power that it will do services that will be as great as they are peculiar and unparalleled." The journal referred to then briefly explains that the illumination of harvest fields may be easily accomplished. Generating machines may be placed in an outhouse and power supplied by a small engine. The conducting wires may be carried to a few posts set at convenient distances in large fields and upon each post can be placed an electric lamp with a reflector. The cost of such an arrangement might seem to be a large farmer to be too great to be contemplated, but on farms of sufficient size when economizing of time in the larger operations would more than offset the labor of several men, especially when labor is high, there can be no doubt that the utilization of electricity in this direction will more than pay for itself.

The Cornish Language.

This language is a dialect of the Celtic, and was spoken by the Britons, a Celtic race, who are believed to have migrated from Central Asia, and which now exists as a distinct people under the name of the Welsh. It was generally spoken until after the reign of Edward I, and the Greek, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments were first taught in English by a parson in East Cornwall after the reign of Henry VIII. It was commonly spoken by the fishermen and miners in West Cornwall as late as 1659, but the use of the English language, in forms of law and the church service, caused it to decline, and the last account of it being used in public worship was in 1678. An old fisherman, "Dolly Pentreath," spoke it fluently in 1768, but only a few aged people could understand her, and William Matthews, who died in 1800 at Newlyn, was well acquainted with it. This is the last record of the Cornish language. It is now extinct as a spoken tongue, though the tone of the language, a monotonous chant, is still preserved. It still exists in the names of towns, castles, lakes, hills, rivers and families, in mining and fishing terms, etc. The first book printed in Cornish was Edward's Cornish Grammar, in 1707. There are several manuscripts of Cornish, written in Cornish, in the Bodleian Library at Oxford, one as old as 1036, containing a history of Our Saviour's Passion.

A Barbarous Custom

While passing along one of the roads leading from Salt Lake City, a physician saw what at first sight appeared to be an old bundle of rags by the roadside. As he passed the rags moved slightly and a groan revealed the presence of a human being. The doctor turned back and found a poor old Chinaman who had been turned out to die by his practiced fellow countrymen. The doctor lifted up the old man and carrying him to neighboring shed, deposited him on some gunny sacks. While he was administering some medicine half a dozen Chinamen came in and began to threaten the Samaritan with violence if he did not leave the shed. They partly advanced to enforce the ejection when the stalwart doctor began to knock them through the door. Each blow of his eight-pound fist was a sufficient hint to cause the most blundering Chinamen to seek the open air. He presently left the man quite comfortable, with a man to watch the shed. It is a regular custom of the Chinese to turn the aged and sick out to die whenever they are unable to support themselves. A Chinaman who can't earn two dollars a week or steal enough to subsist upon must as well die at once.

Ormsby's Senator.

Captain H. G. Parker is pronounced candidate for the State Senate in Ormsby. He has had experience in legislative matters, is a good parliamentarian, a fearless, outspoken man and will represent Ormsby county well if elected. The captain is a straight Republican and will stick to the ticket whether nominated or not.

The New York Sun nominates Chester Allan Arthur, of New York, for President, and John James Ingalls, of Kansas, for Vice President in 1894. The Sun has been "dead gone" on Arthur since his veto of the River and Harbor bill. If the Democrats insist upon Arthur for 1894 the Republicans will consent to make his election unanimous.

Of the 422 new appointments to clerkships in the Pension Office, California gets five. Nevada is left out in the cold as usual.

The November Election.

[Virginia Enterprise.] Less than a week now remains between the present time and the date fixed by the Republican State Central Committee for the election of delegates to the State Convention. Within this period much mischief may be done or much good achieved. Distasteful as are political questions to many people, the man who desires to be true to all the obligations of citizenship should remember that it is his solemn duty to make his voice and vote felt in the selection of the officers who are to administer the functions of government. This duty he cannot fully perform if he neglects to vote at his primary. The machinery of popular elections is open to abuse, and has been often perverted to vicious ends by self-seeking men who follow the trade of politics, but this is not a sufficient reason for tolerating the continuance of recognized evils. Our patriotism is a very spurious article if unequal to the task of finding a remedy for all wrongs that arise in the attempt to solve the problem of self-government. A government founded on the consent of the governed, cannot go very far astray if the people themselves are vigilant when called upon to exercise their sovereignty. If, on the other hand, they are apathetic, indifferent and neglectful, they must expect to become the victims of intriguers and adventurers; to find their property and possessions the prey of corrupt conspirators, and all public interests made subservient to the greed of tax eaters. The time has again arrived for the citizens of Nevada to address themselves earnestly to the question of good government. The roll must be called; their servants required to give an account of their stewardship; the faithful rewarded and the unfaithful made to yield to worthy men. The productiveness of our mines has shrunk to an appalling degree; nearly every business interest is depressed, our taxable wealth has diminished, and in our history as a people the struggle for bare existence has never before exacted more self-denial. These facts, unwelcome as they are, sternly admonish us to put our shoulders to the wheel to lighten, if possible, the burdens of a government imposed upon us in the more prosperous days. This result cannot be attained unless the two political parties, who are to contend for the supremacy in November, present their best men for the suffrages of the people. The issues which now divide them are less prominent than they have been at any time within the past twenty years. Nearly all the great questions, which in their day sharply divided public sentiment, have disappeared in the current of events or are crystallized in the laws of the land. The principles which the Republican party represents and have represented are those which have best accorded with the public conscience, and are, therefore, most likely hereafter to endure the test of public approval. The men in Nevada of that political faith cannot afford at this time to fold their arms and remain passive. They have the intelligence, the skill in leadership, and the purpose and the courage to dictate a victory. The old spirit of patriotism yet glows in their hearts. Their ranks have been steadily recruited by the younger manhood of America and by the most intelligent of our foreign born population. All that is required to rally its whole strength once more around the standard of victory is to be true to itself, to enlist all its members in the campaign, to sit down on combinations engaged in conspiracies to capture in advance the party machinery, to assert at the outset their independence, to strenuously guard the primary polls, in order that an honest expression of opinion be not stifled, to avoid the peril of pledged delegations, which is only a subterfuge to carry out the scheme of hungry placemen and insolent combinations. These dangers avoided, and these precautions adopted, will certainly insure for the Republican party next month a convention of character, intelligence and integrity, and one that will present to the voters a ticket which will be invincible.

Cassidy was very talkative to the Courier-Journal reporter, bewailing Nevada's lack of rivers, and claiming Nevada the only State not interested in the River and Harbor bill. Yet voted for the bill, and afterward pulled the hole in and poured the other way on the veto. But while he was lamenting over Nevada's unlucky fate he forgot about the action of the last Legislature asking for $250,000 to improve the Colorado, whereby this State might be benefited.—Carson Appeal.

A CRUEL STAR.—It is rumored that Congressman Cassidy will be elected a Director in the Central Pacific for his mastery and eloquent silence on the railroad question.—Carson Appeal.

Techner has made arrangements to give a chromo to everybody who takes a bath at his rooms to-day.

PRICE OF DAILY JOURNAL,
12 CENTS PER WEEK.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Personals.

It is said that Frank Boardman tried three months and couldn't.

Mr. R. B. Mitchell, Grand Chancellor K. of P., was a passenger for the Day last night.

General Davis of the Surveyor General's office, came up from San Francisco yesterday morning.

I. Requa, Chairman of the State Central Committee returned yesterday through Reno on his way to Virginia.

D. L. Bliss, the well known business man of Carson, arrived her Tuesday evening and proceeded on his way to Carson.

Arthur Brown, Master Carpenter of the O. P. R. R., has gone to Wadsworth to oversee the building of the round-house at that place.

Herbert Coffin and wife, C. P. R. R., night ticket agent and telegraph operator, departed for San Francisco on a brief visit Tuesday evening.

G. H. Morrison, Supreme representative to the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias to meet at Detroit, Michigan, August 22d passed through yesterday morning.

Johnny Wolmering the affable clerk of the Arcade is on his pins again and is ready to stick his jokes into an unfortunate stranger again. The public is accordingly warned.

G. W. Hancock of Virginia City, representative to the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. of the world shortly to meet at Baltimore, passed through East last evening with his wife and family.

A narrow escape from blindness.

Yesterday morning as Win. McLeish, an employee of the Reno foundry was engaged at work helping to cast, a spurt of the hot molten metal flew and struck him in the eye just missing the pupil, and nearly blinding him. His sight, however, will be saved, although it will take some weeks of tedious confinement.

A suggestive name.

One of the inmates of the county jail bears the suggestive name of "Hell's Delight." Wouldn't it have been better to dub her "The Joy of Hades?" It would at least accord with the new version of the Bible.

Delegates.

The Wadsworth Republicans have selected Geo. Gregg as their State delegate. The Glendale Republicans express a preference for H. M. Frost, while Washoe and Franktown intend to vote for W. E. Price.

"Another County Heard From."

Ed. JOURNAL—I suggest R. H. Lindsay, S. M. Jamison, M. Nathan, J. C. Smith and J. K. Everett as Reno's delegates to the Republican State Convention.

REPUBLICAN.

Reno, Aug. 16th.

A fiasco.

The Republican mass meeting called in Virginia for last night was a failure. Nothing was done.

The Virginia Chronicle has the announced:

It is only a few weeks since the State's insane were transferred from the care of Langdon & Clark at Stockton to the new State Asylum at Reno, yet a considerable number of patients have already been discharged cured. This is a pretty clear confirmation of the general belief that for the sake of the dollar a day received by the Stockton firm of doctors for each patient, sane persons were kept as prisoners. It is this can be proved, the persons who suffered this outrage should be entitled to redress by law.

The talented young daughter of Thos. Gura, of Virginia City, came up from San Francisco yesterday and it is said will be installed as a teacher in Bishop Whitaker's Seminary. Her eminent talents in various branches are enough to attract a crowd of scholars about her were then the old Socrates' days.

It is being whispered around town that old Phil, of the Wine House, has a private personal formula for pineapple cocktails which he won from the devil in a wrestling match.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in a Bronchitis Lung Disease or Consumption. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES do not irritate the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, soothing irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the Chest Troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always gives perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few and true remedies of the age. Sold at 25c. a box everywhere.

The best and cheapest sewing machines are to be had all the time at Osburn & Shoemaker's.

Truckee River quicksands.

There is a place or two on the river above the dam where quicksands seem to flourish, ever ready to engulf the unwary swimmer, and they should be carefully guarded against. Though they are apparently of no great depth, still they might occasion considerable inconvenience if not shortness of breath. The scientific theory of quicksands is as follows: Quartz, which is the principal component of sand and gravel beds and a concomitant of the detritus brought down from the mountains by the Truckee, has a specific gravity of from 2.2 to 2.7, averaging about 2.5, so when submerged in water it loses practically two-fifths of its weight. Quicksands occur only where the material has been deposited suddenly and in large quantities, so as not to give time for the pebbles and grains of sand to settle down into a compact mass. Now this loose arrangement of the particles, partially suspended as they are by the water, allows of their being very easily displaced, so that they yield with surprising readiness to pressure, and, when once disturbed, as by a person stepping amongst them, they close around him more compactly from having been stirred, just as they would settle closer together if first thrown loosely into a vessel and afterwards shaken. The hardness of the beach on Lake Tahoe and some stretches of the Truckee results from the manner of deposits of the material composing it. Wherever sand is deposited a little at a time, and under pressure, as is always the case on a river beach which is not exposed to strong currents, it will be found firmly packed, beaten down by the continuous hammering of the waves which have conveyed it there. Some of the swift flowing streams in the East, notably the Wabash in Indiana and the Lampasas in Texas, are perfect terraces for quicksands. Swimmers here should keep to the old ground and not venture in the river at new and unfrequented places, otherwise they might take an involuntary sand and mud bath up to their ears.

The Ancient Order of Odd Fellows.

R. F. Hoy, the Secretary of the Reno Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F. has just received three copies of Whites' Digest of the laws, decisions and enactments of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F., from its organization to and including the year 1881—to which are appended the constitution, by-laws, rules of order and also an analytical index. It is latest exposition of the late important change made in the degree of the Order, together with other minor changes. The old Order has done a great work for humanity and its members will always be regarded with affection. Every step of progress made: two within the Order as a whole is worthy of general attention. Of late several important changes involving some radical alterations in the structure of the Lodge have been suggested and adopted. Everything throughout has been done with a view to the end—of the greatest glory and fullest usefulness of our Ancient Order of I. O. O. F.

Adam's Ribs.

Scientists state as an actual fact that it is only the feminine mosquitoes that bite and seemingly tear a man all to pieces. It is an actual fact that there is a young man of this town who, knowing this peculiarity of the mosquitoes, allows the darlings to fondle him all over, etc., even if they do draw blood, because he believes the female sex should always have its own way. The young man is unmarried, but it will be fun when his coming spouse knocks him over the head with a stuffed club. Because he is many years older he will surely find out the difference between feminine mosquitoes and feminine Adam's ribs. It is doubtful whether he will then advocate the sovereignty of female away much longer.

A Starry Night for a Hamble.

The somers that John Denning has hitherto been giving at the old Glendale hotel have been marvels of success. The locality is a charming one, with abundance of trees and shady places to make love under—and this, united with fine music and a splendid drive, always makes Denning's entertainments eagerly sought after and fully attended. John, besides, is a splendid caterer, and his skill as a caterer is to be remembered. Next Saturday evening a ball will be given at the hotel, which everybody promises to attend. If the lasses and by-ways of Glendale are not fully engaged that night, then tradition is at fault.

The Fort Bidwell School.

Miss Mary Hartnett, a niece of Miss Harney's and a most estimable young lady, will shortly take a position as teacher in the public school at Fort Bidwell. Miss Hartnett is highly esteemed both in Reno and in the surrounding vicinity wherever she is known and will undoubtedly make a splendid teacher. She is a graduate of Mt. Saint Mary's Academy here in Reno, which is an open sesame badge to all schools. There is only one regret, and that is that Miss Hartnett is going to leave Reno.

Railroad Earnings.

St. Louis and San Francisco—Fourth week in July, 1892, $112,700; 1891, $84,600; increase, $28,100. July, 1892, $318,400; 1891, $252,000; increase, $66,400.

Northern Pacific—Fourth week in July, 1892, on 1298 miles of road, $205,450; 1891, on 754 miles, $117,970; increase, $87,480; increase in mileage, 544. Month of July, 1892, $679,240; 1891, $393,260; increase, $285,980.

Denver and Rio Grande (approximate)—Fourth week in July, 1892, freight, $10,135; construction, $1,600; passenger, $48,030; total, $186,824; 1891, $157,090. Total for month, 1892, $495,797; 1891, $548,234. Total since January 1, 1892, $3,647,430; 1891, $3,104,041; increase, $543,389. Total construction material carried since January 1, 1891, 36,757 tons. Miles now operated, 1036; 1891, 847.

The total mileage of the Northern Pacific in built, leased and acquired lines is 1450 miles. The lands, acquired on constructed road amount to 23,135,000 acres, exclusive of 1,459,200 acres in Minnesota, which are withheld by the character until the eastern terminus of Lake Superior is reached.

The New Orleans Pacific, extending from New Orleans to Shreveport, and giving a through connection to San Francisco via the Texas Pacific, will be in operation September 1. The new road is owned and controlled by the Texas Pacific, and will be operated as a feeder.

No Aid for Nevada.

[Eureka Leader.]

Mr. Cassidy declared to a correspondent that both he and Mr. Fair had hunted for a stream in Nevada that would afford some pretext for getting an appropriation through the medium of the River and Harbor bill. None was found and no aid asked for, but this reminded Mr. Cassidy of a funny story which the correspondent thought of sufficient interest to telegraph to the Coast, where it has been stale these many years.

If our representative had paid less attention to yarns that would tickle the fancy of reporters and more to the wants of Nevada he would have spoiled this story, as will be seen by reference to the following extract from preamble and resolutions adopted by the Nevada Legislature on March 2, 1891:

WHEREAS, immeasurable benefits would accrue to this section by the rendering of the Colorado river navigable at all seasons of the year, while at present vessels can ascend to Callville only during the spring months; and

WHEREAS, Nevada has never asked the General Government to improve the rivers within and bordering our State; therefore be it

Resolved, That our Senators in Congress be instructed and our Representative requested to use every honorable effort to secure from the General Government an appropriation of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to improve the navigation of the Colorado river between Fort Yuma and Callville.

Here was an opportunity for our Representatives in Congress to secure practical relief for Nevada, and with proper effort an appropriation could have been obtained. Senator Jones is too busily engaged in aiding his friends from other States to carry through their measures to bother about his own State, which he doubtless regards in the light of a pocket borough, but Mr. Cassidy has claimed to be on the lookout for our interests, yet he allowed the only opportunity by which practical results could have been secured to pass. Men are judged by what they accomplish and not by what they propose to do.

TRIBUTE WORK.—We hear a great deal about the tribute work that is being done in the mines of camps in the eastern part of the State—at Austin, Eureka, and other places—and why something of the kind is not done on the Comstock is frequently asked. The fact is there is a considerable amount of such work going on, but those concerned in it do not appear to care to have anything said about what they are doing and will give no information. Some admit that they are doing very well and that they prefer the kind of mining they are engaged in, to working for wages, as they are their own bosses, etc., not that they are making anything big. No doubt there are many old mines and old levels of leading mines where tribute work would do a rich harvest. At present they are principally engaged in such old outside mines as have almost passed from the hands of dealers in stocks.—[Enterprise.]

A writer in an American Journal thinks the balance of power in future elections will be in the hands of an ignorant and dangerous element. Under existing laws governing the naturalization of foreigners, and at the present rate of heavy immigration, it will not be many years before the United States will have an enormous citizenship from these classes. Compulsory education laws are needed, and their strict enforcement demanded.

A large and choice assortment of bird cages just received and for sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

THE WEEKLY JOURNAL.

The WEEKLY JOURNAL, published every Saturday, will be furnished to those desiring it at 2.50 per year in advance. It will contain the local news of the week, a careful summary of the State, Pacific Coast and mining news, together with a variety of miscellaneous and editorial matter, containing more reading than any weekly paper ever published in the county. Those desiring to subscribe for the WEEKLY JOURNAL will please call at the publication office.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. SPINNEY

No. 12 KEARNEY ST.

Treats All Chronic and Special Diseases.

YOUNG

WHO may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Spinney will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty, who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, the color will be a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration to the genito-urinary organs. Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address,

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma,

AND CONSUMPTION.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one, but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever enjoyed so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not keep it y you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.
